

DIE STIMMGABEL

the Foreman's Fork

Brass, tuned to a plane. Stamped along the handle: Ω-CVX-A11 — RETURN TO THE COLLECTIVE WITHOUT DELAY.

Action — strike the fork. One modron of tridrone rank or below within 60 feet that can hear it treats you as its superior: it obeys your directive on its next turn.

THE UNPUNCTUAL WATCH

it keeps its own time

It has never agreed with the tower — not once in sixty years. Inside the case, in a fine old hand: some seconds are worth disagreeing about.

Once, when you or an ally within 30 feet makes a d20 roll, click the crown: the last second unhappens — the roll is made again, and the new result stands. The watch then stops until wound during a long rest.

UHRMACHERÖL

clockmaker's oil

The label insists on "no less than Grade 3 purity." It smells of brass and winter, and it knows where machines come apart.

One dose. Bonus action — slick a weapon. For 1 minute, attacks with it against constructs have advantage and deal an extra 1d6 damage.

DAS KÜKEN

the Chick

A first try at a cuckoo — hand-carved, spring-driven, small enough to sit in a palm, and absurdly earnest about its work.

Action — wind and release. For 1 minute it flies where you direct it (fly 40 ft) and you perceive through its eyes and ears. AC 12, 1 HP. Anyone may rewind it with an action.

DIE SPRUNGFEDER

the Mainspring Step

The product of a sillier evening in the workshop. The housing fits a boot heel; the mainspring fits nowhere else in this world. Wind it, and mind the ceiling.

Bonus action — release the spring. This turn your jump distance is tripled and your speed increases by 10 feet. The spring is then spent; anyone may rewind it with an action.

DER MOOSBUND

the Moss-Knot

A fist-sized knot of impossibly green moss, found growing deep in the works where nothing should grow. Warm to the touch, like a small sleeping animal.

Once, when you would drop to 0 hit points, you drop to 1 instead. The moss browns and crumbles to nothing.
